Fourteen Seek ASSMC Posts

Constitution Approval To Be Set by Ballot

For the third time in three years a revised ASSMC constitution will go before the students for approval. A committee headed by Carol J. Head, Ex-Council parliamentarian, rewrote almost the entire document with the object of "greater clearness." Many of the details were changed into by-laws. According to Head, the constitution should be merely a "framework."

The ex-council hopes to complete final revision Monday and the document will be voted upon at the elections next Wednesday.

The complete text is printed on Page 6.

Student Body Card Price Also To Be Set By Vote

With four men campaigning for president (see platforms below) and ten candidates out for the other seven posts, students will go to the polls next Wednesday to choose ASSMC officers for next year. The question of the student-body card raise will also be decided and a new constitution is up for approval.

Nominations for all officers were made at the student-body meeting held Wednesday in the gym at eleven o'clock.

All four of the presidential candidates, Ed Arnold, George Slevin, Larry Garetto, and Joe Casalnuova were active in student-body government this year. Dan Arzac and John Scudder both declined nominations at the meeting. Arzac gave his recent election as honor society president as his reason.

Ed Illig, Roy Ottoboni, and Angelo Maffeo were named in the contests for vice-president, secretary, and rally committee chairman, respectively. Herb Reynolds and Bob Carty both declined nominations to the vice-presidency, and Jack Brady refused the secretary-ship.

Dick Bertain and Jim Jensen will compete for the financial spot, which requires an upper division econ major. Martin Wurth declined a nomination to treasurer.

However, three men entered their names in the campaigns after the nomination meeting, James Lloyd-Butler for vice-president, Floyd Tucker for secretary and Norman Piner for rally-committee chairman. McKeever allowed this to provide opposition for the earlier candidates.

EDWARD ARNOLD

Fellow Students:

Because of the era of crisis and indecision, I am reluctant to make rash promises which you and I are well aware often go unfulfilled. However, it is important to realize that there are many mutual problems to be solved, which left to develop will be a detriment to the students and the college as a whole.

I propose that the way to solve the problems, which now exist, is through cooperation— threefold cooperation of the students, the elected representatives, and the administration. It is vitally important that not only these three groups as a whole cooperat, but that individuals and clubs of the college be organized for greater unity, which in turn will lead to greater activity. This activity is achieved through delegation of responsibility to campus organizations. I am firmly convinced that with a hard-working corps of interested men, these ends can be reached.

I also shall endeavor to see that each man is justly represented by the student council, and that the basic Christian principles be the guiding force of the entire student government.

ED ARNOLD

JOSEPH CASALNUOVA

Fellow Students:

Most of the chief elective and appointed offices have been traditionally given to upper-division students without regard to ability! A government so conceived is bound with defeatism and inefficiency. To follow imperfect, uncertain, or corrupted traditions in order to avoid erring in our own judgment, is but to exchange one danger for another.

Traditional dances last year lost YOU students more than $500; tradition has also closed the ONLY formal dance of the year to lower division students. We have no opposition to dances as such, but experience will bear out the fact that dances that incur financial losses are invariably social flops.

A student body government based on ability, representing BOTH upper and lower division, and willing to offer effort and time will give us a solid working basis for an improved student program. By personal contact, rather than austere aloofness, we can have an improved social schedule and a broader intramural program. With your help we can reach this goal.

JOE CASALNUOVO.

LAWRENCE GARETTO

Fellow Students:

A student government is government not by a single person or a group of persons, but by all the students. It is not the government of the administration, or ADMINISTRATION DOMINATED STUDENTS! It is not the government of the intellectual aristocracy. It cannot be based on such one sided views which are by their nature opposed to that balance necessary for any real student government.

However, no student government can operate by being completely opposed to these individual forces, only by working with the opposition for the greater good of all. This is possible by negotiation that will show a willingness to cooperate to any REASONABLE degree.

In other words, what I offer you in return for your vote, is the promise of my sincere and determined effort to procure for the student that which is in the interest of the common student welfare, in so far as reason and human strength will permit.

LARRY GARETTO

GEORGE SLEVIN

Fellow Students:

When presented with the proposal of running for the presidency of the ASSMC, I had to ask myself, "Just what should such a man be, what should be his aims, and what exactly should he do?"

It is my firm belief that such a man should be a representative of all groups, a man interested in all phases of college life, and in all the students who make up that college.

And in being so interested, it should be his primary objective to effect a greater degree of cooperation among the students, whether they be organized in societies, clubs or classes, and further, to bring the faculty and the students closer, both in interest and in cooperation.

In striving for this, such a man should have the will and quality of leadership and direction, not dictation and coercion.

If elected to this office, I shall do my utmost to achieve these aims and to fulfill all the obligations of the President of the Associated Students.

170 Prep Press Men Expected For Convention Here Saturday

Approximately 170 delegates, representing Catholic high schools from all sections of the state, will attend the 17th annual California Catholic High School Press Convention at St. Mary's College on Saturday.

Thirty-one students will represent the Los Angeles area. This will be the largest Southern California delegation in the history of the convention.

Sponsored by the Fourth Estate, St. Mary's journalism honor society, the day's program will begin with a 9 o'clock Mass in Our Lady of Moraga Chapel on the campus and conclude with presentation of trophies at 4:30 p.m. by Brother Austin, F.S.C., president of St. Mary's.

A new award, the Louis LeFevre Memorial trophy, will be presented for the first time this year to the best coeducational high school paper. Trophies also will be awarded for first and second places in the girls' high school division and also the boys' high school classification. The Julia Twomey trophy will be presented to the outstanding writer, girl or boy.

Open to boys only, a competitive examination for a journalism scholarship to St. Mary's will be held at 9:30 a.m.

A new feature of this year's convention will be panels for moderators and editors. Sister de Chantal, of Presentation Academy, San Francisco, will conduct the panel for moderators, while Miss Pat French of "The Monitor" chairmans a panel of seven collegiate editors, who will discuss sundry problems confronting the average editor.

Casual Style of Henry IV Called Success By Critic

By THE PLAYGOER

Doubtless, Shakespeare presents one of the knottiest problems for anyone charged with the direction of college players. In many critical ways Shakespearean drama is beyond the best efforts of collegiate talent. But it would seem that a dramatic education is incomplete and unsatisfying apart from some attempt at the best in the English theatre.

It seems to the present writer that Yale Meyer has given one answer to the problem in his production of 'Henry IV, Part I' which opened Wednesday night at the Le Fevre Theatre.

In what seems to be a successful effort to recreate the atmosphere of the Elizabethan stage, Yale Meyer's production of Henry IV, Part I, which opened Wednesday night at the Le Fevre Theatre has broken down the solid barriers that have been raised between the players and their audience. In a wordless but nonetheless striking prologue the mood of the play is set when the principles enter the stage from the rear of the theatre, pausing casually to speak for a few moments with some of the audience. Throughout the play intimacy is sustained in an altogether spontaneous fashion as now one, now another of the

Small Crowd Attends Annual Frontier Day

Despite the fact that the standard of entertainment offered by the Sacramento Club at their Frontier Day last Sunday was some of the best to be seen on the campus, the attendance was far below the expected nmber. Inclement weather and insufficient publicity seemed to be te main causes.

The special feature of the afternoon was the Faculty baseball game, which provided many a chuckle for the onlookers as the profs displayed their skill on the diamond.

Folk dancing and a variety show held the attention of the small crowd, and despite the lack of customers many of the concessions in Frontier Town realized gratifying profits.

The high point of the whole affair was variety show which preceded the dance that evening. Girls from Holy Names College put on several excellent chorus line acts. Members of the Christian Brothers Frolic troupe from Sacramento provided the bulk of the entertainment and Louis Torres, a member of the troup stopped the show with his vocal rendition of "Old Man River".

The Minestrone Four, a comic musical act, proved to be the highlight of the affair with their songs, jokes, and antics.

The dance which followed was well attended, with music being provided by Red Clark's orchestra.

Relief Drive to End At Dance

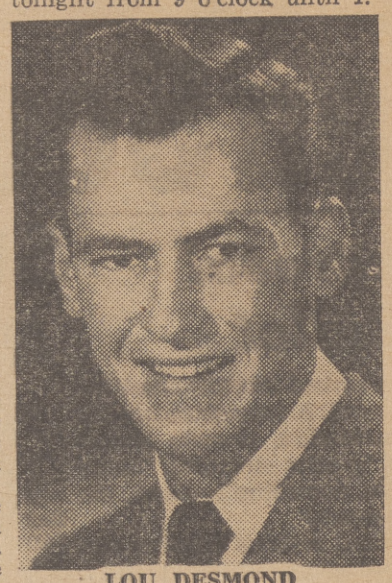
The Gold Room of the Fairmont Hotel will be the scene of the Catholic Intercollegiate Council's Student Relief Drive dance tonight from 9 o'clock until 1.



LOU DESMOND

The dance will climax the CIC Student Relief Raffle which has been in progress throughout the Bay Area for the past two months. A 1949 Chevrolet sedan will be raffled during the affair, and a prize of $300 will be presented to the seller of the winning ticket.

The drive, which had as its goal $2,500, realized only $8,750, or 35 per cent. Saint Mary's, while it did not meet its quota, did favorably in comparison to the efforts of the other colleges.

In charge of the arrangements for the dance are Barbara Zaro, Lone Mountain, chairman; Pat Warner, Dominican, decorations; Ed Arnold, Saint Mary's, music; and Mickey Adza, Santa Clara, treasurer.

PHIL BOVERO TO PLAY

Music for the dance will be provided by Phil Bovero and his orchestra. Bids are being sold for $2.50, and only 50 are being alloted to each school.

Bids are being sold on the Saint Mary's Campus, and those desiring to purchase them should see Ed Arnold, Joe Bertain or Bill Bloom.

Bell Theme Chosen for Guild Tea-Fashion Show

Bells will predominate at the annual Tea and Fashion Show sponsored by the Saint Mary's College Guild, announced Mrs. James Lindsay, General Chairman of the affair. May 14 is the date for the show.

Miss Dorothy Jean Madison, using beautiful professional manniquins, will be in charge of the Fashion Show. Assisting Miss Madison will be Miss Betty Dexter, who will display three costumes from her custom-made shop. The models will enter the main dining hall, where the show is to be held, from huge red and blue bells. Other decorations will include individual placecards of red and blue bells. Floral decorations will include blue bachelor buttons and red roses. The dessert will also feature the red and blue of Saint Mary's.

Proceeds from the party will be used to help maintain a four-year resident scholarship for a young man at Saint Mary's College.

Arrangements have been made by the administration of the College to provide rides to and from the campus for the ladies. Members of the Guild are asked to take the C train which leaves San Francisco at either 11:40 a.m. or 12:20 p.m. to Fortieth and Broadway in Oakland. A bus will be there to transport them to the college.

Over 600 Guild members and guests are expected to attend the Fashion Show. Arrangements have been made for several of the college students to participate in the show as models. Other entertainment will be provided by the Glee Club.

Next Week Set for Vet Registration

To save time needed for enrollment as a veteran next September, all Public Law 346 students who will attend the college in the autumn semester are requested to report to the Veterans Service office in the Administration building next week.

This pre-registration for Public Law 346 will be conducted from 8:45 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. according to the following alphabetical schedule.

SCHEDULE LISTED

Students whose names begin with A to G inclusive are requested to fill out the necessary papers on Monday, May 9.

The H and Q group will report on Thursday, May 10, while the R to Z names are to appear on Wednesday, May 11.

Those who fail to fill out the forms will not be permitted to register in September in the same line with the veterans whose papers are in order.

COOPERATION APPRECIATED

Thomas J. Twomey, Veterans Service Director, pointed out that cooperation will be appreciated by all concerned.

"If in doubt about the sign-up please report now so that we may explain what should be done. Do not wait until next registration period," stated the veterans' director.

Sanctuary Picnic Set for May 18

The ranch of Linus Clays', '32, in Rodeo will be the scene of the annual Sanctuary Society picnic to be held on Wednesday, May 18. The final arrangements were made yesterday by Father Moss, chaplain, who was a classmate of Mr. Claeys in 1932.

Record Concerts Held in Lounge

Record concerts have been presented during the past few weeks in the lounge of De La Salle Hall to encourage the participation of students at the symphonies in San Francisco and to evaluate by discussion the music played.

The purpose of the concerts is to give the student a preview of music which is presented by the San Francisco Symphony, thereby instilling an interest for symphonic music. It is the hope of the sponsors of the concerts that student participation will increase over those of this past symphonic season.

Upon the completion of the concerts, students are asked to give their views on the music's import, and by discussion to evaluate the music so that it may be better appreciated.

The Line Storm

By DAN ARZAC

Some years ago Saint Mary's College attracted a good deal of attendtion in learned circles by instituting its great books seminars. This event was hailed as a pioneer step toward education for freedom, and later developments in education proved that we had moved in the right direction.

Since that time our program has received surprisingly little publicity. There seems to have been no attempt to keep our view in the public mind. Thus, for instance, when Berkeley's library recently organized an exhibit on the great books program, material from Chicago and Saint John's was included, but none from Saint Mary's was present.

DIVIDED OPINION

The lake of emphasis on Saint Mary's only distinctive academic history could be superficially blamed on many things, all of which would prove to be merely secondary causes. The real reason seems to lie in a fundamentay difference of opinion as to what is practical or necessary in education.

This sharp rift is evident in many places. Subjects which were once considered necessary for the liberal arts student, such as the calculus, or for the economics students, such as four years of classics, have been eliminated. In other cases a compromise has been reached by prescribing an exceedingly heavy program.

Obviously such a division in aims cannot be tolerated. The nucleaus which has had the vision to plan an integrated program based on the breat books must reaffirm its ideals and unite in their advancement.

IS NOT JUSTIFIED

Many claim that the great books program has not been effective, that it has not achieved the results it promised. They say that inexperienced instructors tend to lecture or otherwise expose their own opinions, rather than to question and to guide. They add that the time element is questionable, that four hours a week should be spent in seminars on the present number of books. They further claim that reading techniques are faulty and that usually only a surface view of the writer's thoughts is derived.

But we cannot place great stock in these complaints of some students about the great books program. In general, we students do not know what is good for us, and it is well to leave the planning of the program in experienced hands, especially since these hands are Christian and dedicated to the education of the whole man. Those who want only a training course should be shown that vocational techniques are properly acquired only after leaving the undergraduate college, after the basic liberal disciplines have been acquired.

So long as division as to the program is voiced, however, the students will continue to give it their confidence but warily. If we hear loud complaints because Saint Thomas Aquinas is read in such varied fields as religion, ethics, psychology, classics and economics, how can we students approach the integrated Thomistic program with certainty? If Aquinas is the unifying thread in the books program, rather let us submit to him, even as Holy Mother Chuch has submitted her theology and her philosophy to his scrutiny.

Place of The College In The Community

Too many colleges nowadays have their place in the community rather haphazardly fixed. Not only is the curriculum often vague in objective, but also the geography of the school is left to the whim of the Board of Education, and its actual location is sometimes the result of a dart game in the conference room. The president throws his pen at a zone map of the Board's area, and a new school is erected where the point indicates. One result of this method is the College of Wild Life Observation in upper Minnesota. It is a beautiful school, to be sure, but much of it is smack dab in the middle of a lake, and it is not uncommon to see students skiing and skating into their classrooms during the winter. We must stop this practice and relocate our colleges, or civilization is doomed again. (We are always being doomed for something, it seems.)

Those who made the Grand Tour of Europe, either with the Cook's organization or under the auspices of the various armed forces, were impressed by the great difference between the locations of the Continental and the American universities. Although we attempt, at least in liberal arts departments, to follow the European tradition, when it comes to the actual "Place in the Community" for our colleges, we abandon the practices of our more experienced cousins.

HEIDELBERG

Recently I had occasion to visit Heidelberg. Much as can army camp dominates a small town, so the University dominates Heidelberg. What with one legged veterans, clad in patched Wehrmacht uniforms hobbling to their classes, it was a far cry from the sentimentalized "Student Prince" days, but it was easy to see that the students, rich or poor, dominated the life of the city. The town itself seemed to fan out from the University, taking shape and life from its walls. I noted that a pleasant rathskeller occupied a corner of a laboratory building, and upon checking, it proved to be cool and with an atmosphere conducive to discussion, song and amour. We need more of this type of planning in America.

Those who will found a college must not first consider where they can build, but where they want to build. They should pick a location convenient to the entertainment spots of the city. They should be near the opera and the theatre, and a girls' school if the college is not coeducational. There must be several bars nearby which will be allowed to acquire "character" typical of the college's academic trend. The bar must have its license restricted to wine and beer. It should be maintained by a middle-aged couple who will nurse the novice carousers, lend money to the embarrassed, and play an unobtrusive Cupid to the youthful romances. In appreciation of this good will, the students will nominate the couple as king and queen of this or that, and names, fraternities and dates will be inscribed on the tavern walls. There should be little or no light in the place, and a peculiar code of behavior which permits fighting but not murder, must be fostered through the wisdom and tact of the proprietors.

GESTAPO STYLE

Proximity to a girls' school school cannot be overemphasized. The school should be surrounded by high walls and patrolled by stern dogs and policemen, As the college students gain in age, they will discover the subtleties necessary to sneak into the gardens. They will find chinks in the police armor, and they will find which digs are most responsive to hamburger. Their escapades on the forbidden sides of the wall will highlight their student careers, and the dormitory tales will hold audiences breathless. After graduation, the embellishments of the years will keep the adventures gleaming and happy long after the rules of logic have been forgotten.

In answer to the American stand that colleges should be free from outside enticement, it may be noted that on the contrary, the stronger the attraction of the "outside world", the more must the university depend on first-rate lecturers, scintillating academacians, and interesting courses. If the college is worth its salt at all, it will have little competition with the city. It is only when the lecture room becomes boring that the student seeks outside pleasures. By placing colleges squarely in the center of all social activity, we will of necessity raise the standard of our teaching staffs.

After a four year course in a properly located, properly equipped college, our graduates will take the first hold on the reins of leadership, which the community, for some unknown reason, holds ready for them. The goal of the community will be reached, the wild oats sown, the serious work accomplished with interest and ease. The great American dream will be realized: money in the Federal Reserve Bank, wine on each table, Chaucer on every bookcase shelf

More on Election

for election to the head yell leader's position. Cuyler was head yell leader last year and Escajeda and McCaffrey as runners-up were his assistants. This year, by a change in the constitution, the winner will appoint his own assistants.

There is no candidate for intra-mural manager.

Also for the first time in school history the editor of the COLLEGIAN will be elected by the students. By an amendment to the Constitution voted at a student-body meeting earlier in the year, the moderator and the outgoing editor merely nominate the candidates instead of appointing the editor as in the past. Bill Kelly, former COLLEGIAN editor, and Lou Colzani, editor of the '49 GAEL, are running for the job.

MORE CASH NEEDED

Besides the election of officers the students will also decide whether to set the student-body fee at $7.50 without the price of the GAEL, or $15 with the full price of the GAEL included. The ex-council has already voted on the raise, and ASSMC president Val McKeever pointed out at the student-body meeting Wednesday that a write-in vote to retain the $5 price would be "thrown away."

R. V. Johnson, president of the Block SM excited considerable controversy over the question with a circular which was passed out in the dorms Monday night claiming that the raise was "loaded against the students." He asserted that the extra money was not needed.

However, the ex-council voted ten to one on the two alternatives of $7.50 and $15 last week and a second motion this week to add the alternative of no raise was voted down ten to two.

GAEL GOSSIP

By Dick Siggins

Notice please that the Phoenix have won their last two league games from Santa Clara. After last Friday night's disgrace, when 15 Gael would-be swatsmiths were cut down by COP's Stan McWilliams, Johnny Vergez was a very sad individual.

Knowing that his men just weren't as bad as their hitting draught would indicate, he prescribed an unusual solution. No hitting practice for the regulars was the order as his charges were warming up for Sunday's contest at Santa Clara. Whereupon, a deluge of 11 safeties, more hits than the Gaels had gathered in their four previous games, was the result of Doctor John's medicine—a real internal prescription if there ever was one.

But that wasn't all. Monday, the day before their second contest with the Broncs, was a practice holiday, the first in a long time for the stale Phoenix. Again a positive result: Santa Clara beaten, 11-5, the next day.

PERFECT DEFENSIVE PLAY

John Woudenberg, Spring-time assistant to the Verducci-Arabian coaching duet, almost jumped out of his cleated brogans the other day when his pride, Jim Pflueger, last year's nice guy who has "reformed" into an aggressive left end, made the most perfect defensive maneuver that Woudenberg had laid eyes on in a long time.

Pflueger, charging in to break up the interference on an end run, in one perfectly executed motion, brushed off both blockers who hit him and tackled the ball carrier.

"Wow!" wowed Woudenber "that's one of those things I might never see again."

AN UNEXPECTED TRAGEDY

The issue before last when we were getting ready to view a weekend of baseball between Saint Mary's and California, we commented that we were expecting to see "Mamie" Joseph in the Gael rooting section. It was only natural to expect that. Everyone else, including the players and Vergez, thought that their greatest rooter would show.

We all are somewhat surprised in not finding her, and this week from her home in Rodeo came the answer. Mrs. Mamie Joseph, the mother of two sons who have gone to the college, could not follow her favorite team this year because just before the opening of the season, she almost went blind.

The Rodeo Chamber of Commerce is planning a "Mamie Joseph" night during one of the Seals-Oaks games, later in the year. As soon as we find out the date of the "night," we're going to make preparations to attend. Brother, she deserves it.

YOU DON'T SAY!

One senior transition talk listener must have chuckled to himself last week as Red Scheflin, Gael quarterback of '32, who's now with the school department in San Francisco, spoke on the future of college athletes in the pro ranks and later in the coaching field. The chuckler: Squirmin' Herman, who might have given a series of lectures of the trials and tribulations of a name-player in pro gridball.

Little-Big Track Meet On Campus Tomorrow Morn

Walsh, Dixon Expected to Score Firsts Over Broncos in Sprints

Statistics, if they mean anything when Saint Mary's and Santa Clara get together, point to a Gael victory tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock when the track teams of the two schools clash in a dual meet here on the James M. Smith oval.

Saint Mary's should be established favorite, for in every past performance this year, the Gael thinclads have outshone their traditional rivals. Two weeks ago Santa Clara defeated the USF Dons, 67 2-3 — 63 1-3 on their own field. Last Friday the Gaels easily outclassed the same Dons to the tune of 87 to 44.

PAST FAVORS GAELS

Earlier in a 4-way meet at Modesto, the Gaels placed second behind strong Modesto JC with 50 points, while the Broncos managed to garner only 28 markers. Still at another 4-way meet earlier in the season at Edwards Field in Berkeley, the Gaels trailed California and Fresno State for the third spot, beating Santa Clara, 19-9.

Turning optimist for the second week in a row, track mentor George Deklotz has predicted a Gael victory by five points, 67-62. However, last year in the first annual Little-Big track meet since the war, the same Deklotz predicted a win for his team, but the Broncs staged a mild upset to win 71-55, which proved that anything can happen in a Saint Mary's - Santa Clara competition.

RELAY TO DECIDE

"The relay should win the meet," explains Deklotz. "Santa Clara's main strength is centralized in the high jump, discus, 880, the mile and two mile. We seem to have the edge in the sprints, javelin, broad jump and pole vault. It's a tossup in the hurdles."

Deklotz's two prides, Lenny Dixon in the century and Larry Walsh in the 220 and 440, are pegged to set new Little - Big Meet records in the three events. John O'Brien of Santa Clara should set a new mark in the mile and a new time should be clocked in the high hurdles. New marks are also expected in the shot put and javelin.

DON MEET RESULTS

In the USF encounter last Friday, Ollie Matson, the Don great, outfooted Dixon in the hundred and Walsh in the 220. Walsh placed first in the quarter mile, easily outdistancing the Dons' Tom Kearney, The complete results: (Saint Mary's 87, USF44)

Nelson Shoots 67 in Practice At Richmond

Al Nelson came close to shooting the greatest round of golf ever recorded on the Richmond links Wednesday afternoon as he and his mates were preparing for their coming return match with San Jose State on the Gael home course.

Playing with Herman Wedemeyer against Packard Harrington and Ronnie Patten in ladder competition, Nelson carded a measly 67, which, with any sort of luck, could have been a 63, one below the course record.

MISSED FOUR PUTTS

Nelson almost unbelievably missed four 3-foot putts. In the same round, Patten shot a 69.

Tentatively set for tomorrow, the Gael-Spartan affair may be changed to Monday. In their last squaring off, the Spartans defeated the Moraga linksmen 21-6 on their tough San Jose backyard. This time Gael hopefuls expect a more even-sided affair.

On Wednesday the Gaels run into the USF sextet, an aggregation that they soundly spanked two weeks ago.

AMATEUR TOURNEY

The goal for the golfers now seems to be the Northern California Amateur championships to be held at the Meadow club in Fairfax at the end of the month. Conceivably, any one of the trio of Nelson, Patten, or George Bruno, whose game has been definitely "on," could enter the winner's circle at the tourney's end.

The Northern California Intercollegiate championship is now held by Nelson. The state amateur champ, Eli Bariteu of San Jose State, was the gremlin who knocked out Harrington in the recent college semifinals at Pasatiempo.

Intramural Sports

By JIM MURRAY

With only three weeks remaining in the Intramural Softball League, the 10 competing teams were trying harder than ever this week to battle their way into the finals.

Although they have been beaten once, the Sacramento Club still looks like a good choice to cop league honors.

Following closely behind the Sacramento Club in this week's league standings are the Sphincters, who also have been beaten only once. After the Sphincters are Deke Kline's Dayliters who have dropped two games, as have the fourth place Jim Juniors.

MUDVILLE NOT OUT

Still not to be counted out are the Mudville Sluggers who dropped their first two games and have since come on to win their next two.

Here is a resume of the games played in the last week:

On Monday the Dayliters engaged the Sanctuary Saints and proceeded to beat a merry path around the bases, as the final count found the Dayliters the victors, 20-8.

FOUR IN ROW

The Sphincters made it four in a row this week as they trounced the Splinters, 14-0. Bob Roche, who hit a game-winning single last week for the Stikers, again was the big gun as he collected four hits off the pitching of Myles Brown.

OTHER GAME

The only other game played this week was a practice tilt, which found the league leading Sacramento Club playing a well balanced and hustling student Brother nine.

The Brothers had a four run lead at one time and were coasting along until the seventh inning when the Sacramento boys got to the Brothers pitcher for eight runs. The final score favored the Sacramento, 8-5.

Particularyy outstanding for the student Brothers was Brother Frederick, a very nifty short stop.

For the Sacs it was the power of EdDowell, John Lampe, Al Lampe, Al Silva, and particularly Herb Reynolds, who hit a home run with one man on.

Gaels in South to Play League Leading Trojans

The Saint Mary's Phoenix nine headed south last night with two consecutive wins under its belt in CIBA competition, and the league-leading Southern California Trojans on the agenda to provide this weekend's opposition in Los Angeles.

Today and tomorrow the Gaels do battle with the vaunted men of Troy in an attempt to keep on the victory trail, and to snap the Trojan's six-game winning streak in conference play.

Coach John Vergez has selected Carroll Canfield, who has been very effective in his last three starts, to pitch today's game. Jack Rial, victor over Santa Clara on Tuesday, will get the starting assignment tomorrow.

MUST BE GOOD

The Gaels, who have been working together in the field and getting some timely hitting to aid their pitchers, will have to be at their peak performance levels for these Trojans, for they're a mighty potent outfit.

The Trojans have an infield which is tops in college circles. It has speed and batting punch and is a good fielding unit. Three of the four glovemen comprising the infield are holdovers from last year's National champion team. They are Larry Cedillos at third, Jim Brideweiser, the $42,500 kid, at short, and long-ball hitter Rudy Regalado at first.

CAPABLE OUTFIELDERS

The outfield posts are in the capable hands of Dick McKelvy in left, John Karan in center and Bill Hefner in right field.

Bill Zuber is the Trojan catcher and is a good hitter, while Pitchers Al Pender, a southpaw and Righthander Bill Schlarb have been very effective all year.

Five of Troy's eight regulars are hitting better than .300 with Regalado leading at .412 and Hefner second with a .375 mark.

The middle part of the Gael batting order has been hitting of late. Bill Brown was hitting .400 while Dwayne Kling had six in the last two games.

Norm Benjamin, Gene Klinger, and Dan Galvin have been getting timely pokes of late too.

Probable lineup:

| SM | USC |
|---|---|
| McLoughlin, ss | Cedillos, 3b |
| Colgan, 1b | Mazmanian, 2b |
| Galvin, 2b | Brideweiser, ss |
| Brown, rf | Regalado, 1b |

Back in Time

Vergez Men Come to Life, Win 2 Games Over Broncos

Combining good pitching, timely hitting, a leak-proof defense at the same time, Saint Mary's Gaels rose from the depths of the cellar to knock Santa Clara's Broncos from the second rung in the CIBA standings by thrashing them 6-3 and 11-5.

Carrol Canfield limited the Broncs to five hits and three runs down at Santa Clara Sunday while his mates were collecting a dozen hits and six tallies to bring the second victory of the CIBA season for the Moragans.

Saint Mary's scored first in the fourth when Dan Galvin was hit by a pitched ball and Bill Brown hit his first double of the day.

TUESDAY AGAIN

Then on Tuesday the Broncos came to Moraga to make up a game rained out in March. Jack Rial went to route for the Gaels and pitched no-hit, no-run ball in every inning but the second and ninth.

The Gaels got one back in the second and went ahead 4-3 on a walk to Galvin, a single by Gene Klingler and a triple by Norm Benjamin who scored on Ray White's fly to left field.

Rial assured his victory by singling home two runners in another three-run uprising in the fifth. After a single marker n the sixth, the Gaels finished their scoring by chalking up three in the eighth on Gene Klingler's homer to deep center field.

BROWN BEANED

Bill Brown, who had collected three hits in the first game, was struck on the head by Gordon Palm on an attempted pickoff. He suffered a cut on the back of the head, but X-rays revealed no greater damage.

Dwayne Kling picked up six hits in the two contests.

Rial Wins, 11-5

Red and Blue Units to Be Selected for Homecoming

By DICK PETERSEN

After today's scrimmage, bruising indeed if past scrums are indicative, the football coaching staff goes into an important huddle in order to divide the sixty-odd gridders into the Red squad on the one hand, and the Blue squad on the other for the annual Spring windup on May 15.

Head mentor Joe Verducci stated "the Reds will compose the first and fourth squads; the Blues, the second and third. What we must do is pick out the men for those squads."

CLOSER GAME

He said a few minutes later that his office will announce the name of the man he has handpicked as his line coach, replacing popular George Poppin, very shortly.

The Red and Blue game is expected to be much closer this year than it was last year. The squad is just shy of two very equal platoons. It is inferred that last year's "sacred sixteen" has been upped to this year's "tenacious twenty-one."

Jarvis, Atkinson, Byron and Dugger have memorized every play given them this Spring. Verducci assured us that no other plays will be added to that repertoire prior to the opening game gainst Oregon next fall.

FULLBACKS INJURED

Injuries are at a minimum with the exception of three fullbacks, Dave Haffner, John Otten and Frank Massaro. Haffner and Otten still like to compare ankle casts when they meet each other on the campus, while Massaro waits for a doctor's report on the resiliency of his knee ligaments injured in the Nevada game last year.

What the doctor determines answers the question whether or not he plays this year. The same may be said of "Big Bill" McCauley, whose damaged knee limits him to just a few crushing movements each scrimmage.

Canfield Wins, 6-3

The COLLEGIAN EDITORIAL PAGE

Elections Here Again

Election time seems to call for editorials concerning the importance of selecting the best candidates for the various offices, of putting mind over heart, of honestly taking time for consideration and for balloting, etc.

Saint Mary's has always had a greater percentage of student voters than the other colleges in the Bay Area. We take pride in our student government by obviously showing our likes and dislikes on the ballots.

This year will not be any different. A large turnout is expected. The absence of a great number of contestants has nothing to do with the student interest in the actual election of officers.

Besides being asked to vote on a new constitution, which seems to be the fashion nowadays, students are requested for the first time to select the editor of the Collegian. Two capable journalists have been nominated by the editorial staff to run for the office. The success of the Collegian throughout the coming year is dependent upon a wise selection. It is encouraging to see a revived interest in the Collegian.

With proper urging to read the Constitution, which we have been directed to print in its entirety, and to study the qualifications of every candidate, we feel that our job is done. There seems no real need of commenting lengthily on the importance of the elections.

High School Convention

The High School Press Convention, sponsored by the student body in general and the Fourth Estate in particular, takes place on the campus tomorrow. From secondary schools all over the state will come editors and their associates, both boys and girls, to compete for the numerous awards the student body has appropriated.

Saint Mary's extends a hearty welcome to its visitors, many of whom will be seeing our campus for the first time. We encourage them to feel free to look around. We, the students of the college will do our best to make their visit enjoyable.

Now in its 17th year, uninterrupted even by the war, the Press Convention has steadily grown and expanded through the years. It is a pleasure for the Fourth Estate to establish competition for these eager journalists, and to provide them advice and encouragement from their more advanced cohorts.

More on Henry IV

roles abandon their lines to pass the time of evening with an acquaintance in the fourth row center.

Unquestionably the device has its hazards; not the least of which is the chance that is being constantly risked of losing sight of Shakespeare and the play he wrote. In the present instance, however, the risk seems well worth the try. The device turns out to be just the kind of thing the collegians need to create the genuine tone of the play itself.

Meanwhile, Meyer has given the better part of his attention to the dramatic interests with which the play itself is concerned.

In the unequal struggle for the allegiance of Prince Hal (Bud Gerich), Falstaff (Chuck Evans) and Henry IV (Dick Journey) do particularly fine jobs. It would seem difficult to imagine anything more regal than Journey's Henry IV, while Chuck Evans plays an extremely versatile Falstaff. Gerich's scenes opposite Falstaff, Poins (Joe Casalnuovo) and Mistress Quickly (Kela Snediker) are executed so deftly that his more serious situations seem rather stiffly done by comparison.

In other roles, Jim Doyle presents a thoroughly consistent Hotspur and Kela Snediker's Mistress Quickly is faultless. The quiet dignity of Bob Fahey's Northumberland is particularly impressive.

And, oh yes, that Portuguese-Lancastershire accent belonged to Frank Pimentel.

On the Level

By FATHER MOSS

(Editor's note: This is the twentieth in the series of articles written by Father Moss on his recent ten weeks trip to Europe.)

It was 5 o'clock in the evening and we were only about an hour's ride from Florence when we encountered our first trying experience as American tourists in a foreign country. Although a general strike had been called throughout Italy by the Communists in protest over the attempt to kill the Communist leader, Signor Togliatti, many persons who were not sympathetic with the cause continued to work. It was while passing through a small town a short distance from Florence that we saw the first attempts at violence.

The non-strikers were leaving the factories at the close of the work day, when they were rushed by the "Commies." Some of those who were attacked were carrying tools which they used to beat off their attackers. The police were in the middle of the melee and seemed to have very little control over the mob. As our new bus came into sight a great cry arose and the people surrounded it with cries of "Down with the Americans and the British." Our guide, who had been an English major during the war and who had been all through the Italian campaign, had very little regard for the Italians' ability to fight. He told our bus driver to go full speed ahead through the village and to stop for no one. You can well imagine the reaction of the populace when the bus went through the center of the crowd without single finger being raised in protest. We considered ourselves very fortunate in escaping the crowd so easily.

The full realization of the precarious position we were in dawned upon us when we arrived in Florence at sundown. The city appeared just like a city under miltiary control with motorized squads of soldiers and police driving at breakneck speed through the streets. The corners of buildings were placarded with posters bearing directions for the emergency. Among some of the regulations were those forbidding the grouping together of more than three persons. All public meetings were prohibited. Only the churches were allowed to remain open.

Our hotel, the Anglo-American, was strategically located on the banks of the River Arno, within the shadow of the Ponte Vecchio, the "old bridge" as it is called. All around the hotel could be seen evidences of the destruction of the last war. The Ponte Vecchio was the only bridge left standing after the war. Along its sides can be seen the goldsmith shops, jutting irregularly out into the main part of the bridge just as they did in the fourteenth century.

We were most anxious to get to our rooms and wash up after our harrowing experience of the afternoon. We were told by the desk clerk that due to the general strike there would be no elevator nor maid service. The possibility of getting our meals was even more remote. However, our guide, true to the traditions of British diplomacy, was able to "do business" with the proprietor of the hotel. For a "consideration" he agreed to convince the employes that they should stay on the job. We inturn "chipped in" and took up a sizable collection which weturned over to the manager. This he used to buy service for us, and this mind you, despite the fact that we had already paid for our accommodations and meals in advance. However, the comfort and the service which was rendered more than repaid the expenditure.

Dean Reports on Education Conclave

After attending this year's convention of the National Catholic Educational Association held in Philadelphia from April 19 to 22, Bro. William, F.S.C., Dean, returned to the campus this week with the conviction that Saint Mary's is "comparatively liberal" in matters of student government. He said a show of hands indicated that "most of the colleges do not even allow student control of fiances," and that moderators with "strict veto power" are the usual thing.

A panel discussion which included National Student Association representatives decided that students are anxious for the "honor and glory of offices, but they shirk the responsibility." Bro. William himself feels that "if student government takes this responsibility, it should have power."

Father Gannon, S.J., former president of Fordham University, sounded the convention theme in his keynote address calling for government aid to Catholic schools. A stand was taken in favor of such aid, but no political action was planned.

Bro. Potamian, F.S.C., Dean of Manhattan College, was elected as secretary for the next two years. Father Dunne, S.J., President of USF, is vice-president.

Besides attending the convention, Bro. William also went to Washington, D. C., and to New York to interview prospective faculty members for next year.

Special Homecoming Supplement

Alumni Invade Campus Sunday in Homecoming; 'Family' is Panel Topic

"Sex, Marriage and the Family from Medical, Psychological and Religious Viewpoints" will be the subject of the traditional educational hour to be conducted at the annual St. Mary's College Homecoming Day , this Sunday on the Moraga Valley campus.

Conducting a panel discussion of the subject will be three prominent Oaklanders—a doctor, a psychologist and a Catholic priest.

The doctor will be Robert W. deVoe, an obstetrician and gynecologist and a graduate of the University of California, who served for three years on the Mayo Clinic staff. He currently is a faculty member of the Stanford University School of Medicine.

Edward J. Hinkle, a consulting psychologist and a graduate of St. Mary's, will be the second speaker. Dr. Hinkle is a consultant for the Catholic Social Service of Alameda County and also for the Oakland Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation. He's also a lecturer on medical psychology and mental hygiene at Providence Hospital, Oakland, and the author of "Juvenile Delinquency in Peace and War."

Third speaker will be Rev. Thomas E. Lacey, director of the Catholic Youth Organization of the Eastbay and moderator of the Oakland club of the National Catholic Community Service, U.S.O.

The discussion will begin at 11:30 a.m. and will be held in the auditorium of Dante Hall on the campus.

Home-coming, '48 is dedicated to the men of '99.

This was the announcement made this week by outgoing Alumni president, Ed McSweeney as he and his committee concluded preparations for next Sunday's Alumni Day.

At the same time McSweeney announced the names of the five surviving members of the class of '99 who will be guests of honor on Sunday. They are James T. Killian, John S. Mott and Joseph Cone, all of Oakland; George J. Hart and Fred Corcoran, both of San Francisco.

Meanwhile McSweeney made public a varied program for alumni who travel to the campus for Sunday's traditional ceremonies.

At nine o'clock Holy Mass in the chapel with Rev. Thomas Kane, alumni chaplain as celebrant will open the day's activities. Breakfast at 10:00 a.m. and a general alumni meeting at 10:45 a.m. are scheduled, according to McSweeney.

An educational program, beginning at 11:30 a.m. and continuing until 2:30 p.m. includes a panel discussion on the general topic of "Sex, Marriage and the Family", an exhibit in the Keith Gallery and a visit to the Louis LeFevre Memorial theatre.

A regulation football game matching Joe Verducci's best talent for the 1950 season is scheduled to begin at 2:30 p.m.

Benediction in the Chapel at 5:45 and dinner at 6:00 p.m. will conclude the program.

Old Gael Song Proposed

In one of his last public utterances the late, beloved Louis LeFevre suggested that "Here's a Song to Old Saint Mary's"—ancient Phoenix victory song — be revived and adopted by the alumni.

At its October meeting, the Alumni Board of Directors recommended that the hymn be adopted, in keeping with the request of Louis LeFevre.

Following are the words of the song:

Here's a song to old Saint Mary's,
Where we made friends fond and true;
We recall their lusty voices there,
Cheering the Red and the Blue;
May they ever gain a victory
When their College days are o'er;
For our dear old Alma Mater
Let us cheer once more!

Alumni Election Meeting Slated For 10:45 Sunday

A general meeting of the Alumni Association is scheduled for Dante Hall, Room 201, at 10:45 a.m., Sunday with outgoing president, Ed McSweeney, presiding.

Following are the names that will be submitted by the nominating committee to the general meeting on Sunday morning:

President, Elton C. Lawless; vice-president, Robert F. Waters, Jr.; recording secretary, Cyril Gilfether, '30.

The alumni year extends from July 1 to June 30 of the following year.

LOST? Here's the Program

Brother Austin Greets Homecoming Alumni

"Homecoming" is an interesting term to apply to the return of graduates to the college where they once studied. It has, of course, a sentimental note—not without some justification.

The basic idea, if we stop to think about it at all, seems to be a returning to the place of our intellectual childhood where we learned, were directed and admonished. And as we love our natural home and our parents, so too, because of a certain resemblance in function, we love this other "home"where we were born spiritually into a world of values and ideals.

But it is not all sentiment. A college education has always been an enormous factor in the life of any man. Apart from the disciplines of education there are the peretrating traditions of the school, the philosophy of life, the associations, the activities are all a considerable number of powerful forces—never possible in the natural home—that help to make the graduate something other because he attended that particular school or college.

Men of Saint Mary's you are welcome back to your Alma Mater today. May you enjoy the richest and happiest memories of the past; may you be renewed and encouraged, and may you be better because of this Homecoming Day.

BROTHER AUSTIN, F.S.C., Ph.D.
President of the College.

Alumni Prexy Extends Welcome to Grads

Welcome home, Alumni!

This is our day. You return, not as prodigal sons but as loyal and true men.

You have supported your Alma Mater through the Alumni Association. You have kept the family together by means of your active support of the alumni unit system spread throughout the state.

You have contributed to its ukeep by means of rebates of a portion of your dues and you have shared in sending a deserving boy to Saint Mary's through the Alumni scholarship, thereby upholding the tradition of Saint Mary's men.

You also have spread the name of your Alma Mater throughout the land by your Alumni Journal; you have encouraged the present undergraduates by your financial contributions to the Collegian and the Gael.

You bring the family together at the farewell dinner for seniors and you offer advice and good counsel as successful professional and business men to the graduating class through the Alumni-sponsored transition series.

By your active participation in the Round-table Great Books discussions, you keep alive the desire for learning.

You send your football teams into battle with your annual football dinner and you support them when they are on the field.

You have contributed to the Library, the upkeep of the College grounds, the Chapel; you have not been found wanting.

Saint Mary's is proud to be the mother of such men!

EDWARD McSWEENEY,
President, S.M.C. Alumni Association.

Alumni Journal One Year Old This Week; Shows Signs Of Long, Active Life

An item that will stand high in the order of conversation as the alumni gather 'round next Sunday will be the "Alumni Journal" which celebrates its first birthday this week.

The brainchild of last year's alumni session, the youngster has made seven public appearances within the last year.

Editor Jack Henning, longtime secretary of the Alumni Association, sees to it that little "Jerry Journal" makes his monthly bow with hands and face washed and on his best behavior.

As for size, well, as Journals go, Jerry is not exactly on the robust side. But that's not the way his begettors like to put it. He manages, they tell us, to keep his weight down to an agile eight pages.

Thus far his diet, over which Jack Henning watches maternally, has consisted of a judicious mixture of something heavy, something light and something else in between the two.

Faculty contributors, who included Dr. Hagerty, Brother S. Edmund, F.S.C., Yale Meyer and the late Louis LeFevre, were responsible for the pronounced serious vein in Jerry's make-up. Bill Bettencourt did his best to instill a healthy respect for athletics in the growing youth, while Tom Foudy, with his "Following the Gaels" did something to make Jerry a man of the world.

Foudy's column, incidentally, which earlier in the year was subtitled "Wandering Sons", was responsible for the fright of Jerry's young life. It seems that a malicious type-setter or a Freudian quirk in the editor's personality subtitled one of Foudy's pieces "Wandering Dons". For a whole month little Jerry was in some doubt about whose child he was.

But perhaps more characteristic of the kind of youngster Jerry is has been the precoscious things he has to say about his more outstanding porgenitors. In a monthly feature, entitled "Man of the Month" Jerry Journal tossed bright bouquets in the direction of alumni who had distinguished themselves and their professions.

Changes in Personnel at Books Group

Meeting monthly on the second Friday, the alumni Great Books Group celebrates its second birthday in June after a year marked by major changes in the group's personnel.

Brother James who assisted Professor James L. Hagerty throughout the first year of the group's existence was suceeded by Mr. Joseph Golden, history and world classic instructor on the Moraga campus.

During the first year the group consisted exclusively of alumni, among whom were Dr. Fred West, Ed McSweeney, Jack Henning, Willard Gates, Franck Boland, George DeLew, Tom Foudy, Bill Smith and Bill McManus.

At the outset of the second year the alumni was invited to bring their friends to the discussions. The response, according to Professor Hagerty, was encouraging with numerous non-alumni, including many women, taking part in the seminars.

The reading list for the past year included Odyssey, Homer; Republic, Plato; Confessions, St. Thomas More; Tempest, Shakespeare; Gulliver's Travels, Swift; Religion and the Rise of Capitalism, Tawney; Symposium, Plato; Ethics, Aristotle.

Plans are under way for the third year, according to Dr. Hagerty. In the light of experience the members propose to meet every two weeks instead of once a month. The opening meeting will be on Friday, September 9 at 7:30 p. m. in the Commissioners' Room of the Main Library in San Francisco.

Since the number of members is limited, alumni wishing to join should communicate with William McManus, 1803 Eddy street, San Francisco, promptly.

. The new officers hope to continue the two monthly meetings initiated by Moran and his associates.

Seven Alumni Honored by Journal; Men of the Month Chosen From All Walks

Not one, but seven prophets have been recognized in their own country.

This is the verdict of no less an authority than the "Alumni Journal" as it concluded its first year of publication with this week's homecoming festivities.

Twenty-seven years separates the youngest of the Journal's "men of the month"—Joseph L. Alioto, '37—from the oldest—Eugene J. Riordan, of the class of 1910. In between come Dr. Frederick T. West, '14; Raymond J. Arata, '28; J. Philip Murphy, '29; Robert J. McAndrews, '32, and George Miller, '35.

Of the seven honored by the Journal's "Man of the Month" column this year, Bob McAndrews and George Miller are two of St. Mary's contributions to the advertising profession. The law is represented by Ray Arata and Joe Alioto. Engineering holds its own with Eugene Riordan and J. Philip Murphy, while the medical profession is represented by Doctor West.

The naming of four of the seven to the honors of "Man of the Month" was occasioned by their acceptance of offices of public trust. Riordan was named director of property for the city and county of San Francisco, while Arata and Alioto accept important positions in the state and San Francisco city educational systems, respectively. George Miller was elected state senator.

The remaining three "men of the month" were chosen by their professional associates to offices of responsibility. Dr. West was returned to the position of secretary of the Pacific Coast Society of Orthodontists. Last October in Quebec the American Institute of Steel Construction elected J. Philip Murphy vice president of its organization. The National Council of Catholic Men reached all the way to Los Angeles and Bob McAndrews for its far western member of the radio executive committee.

ROCK LA FLECHE.

McCarthy Leads South In Active Year

By CARL SCHUCK, '37

From the Class of '06, the Southern California Alumni Unit this year acquired dynamic leadership from Charles J. McCarthy, southland furniture executive, who has carried forward his predecessor's program of revitalizing the unit from war-induced inactivity.

Elected last December to serve with McCarthy were Bob Doud, '22, Vice-President; Broox Davis, '30, Vice-President; Frank Haven, '31. Treasurer, and Carl J. Schuck, '37, Secretary. On the Board of Directors are Frank Barton, '31 (outgoing president); Robert J. McAndrews, '31; Tom Kelley '24, and Edmund Roberts, '22.

A smash hit was scored the first time at bat this year by the unit, when 75 members attended the Louie Guisto testimonial dinner at the University Club on February 21st. Many old-timers not seen for some time, some of whom had shared the renown that Louie brought the College, came out to honor him as well as grads of more recent vintage who knew him as the impressario of the Co-op.

Next on the list of events for the southland unit is a Fathers and Sons night set for June 8th at Rudi's Italian Inn. A good and substantial Italian repast and entertainment is scheduled and members will be invited to bring their boys or other dad's boys to join in the fun.

Also planned for the near future is another party at the Sequoia Lodge of the Acme brewery. An annual affair, this event will no doubt succeed in drawing the usual large and highly representative gathering.

For the fall, another pregame event is slated just before the Loyola game, to be followed after a few weeks by a dinner-dance, probably at the Beverly Hills Hotel.

Monthly lunches of officers, directors and other members desiring to participate are now held at the University Club on the first Thursday of each month.

Any members south of the Tehachapis who are not now in contact with the unit, should get in touch with the officers at 318 North LaBrea Avenue.

In last year's Homecoming Day the oldest alumnus met the youngest when Daniel Q. Troy, '80, talked over the past with Jerry Paulsen, '48, in the Coop "Art Gallery."
